

This architectural site plan illustrates a residential development. The central focus is a large rectangular building footprint, shaded in red, which is divided into several sections. This central building is flanked by other structures, including a long, narrow building to the left and a smaller, more complex building to the right. The plan is densely annotated with dimensions in meters, such as 23.70, 5.70, 46.10, and 15.64, indicating the size of various plots and building components. A network of roads and paths is shown, with some areas marked with 'III' and 'II'. The plan also includes a north arrow pointing towards the top right and a scale bar at the bottom left. The overall layout suggests a well-organized residential neighborhood with clear boundaries and access points.

